December

Johnny Petillo Back By Popular Demand!

Saturday, December 7

As a singer, impressionist and comedian and with show-stopping appeal, Johnny Petillo has been bringing audiences to their feet for years. Starting out as a singer on the street corners of Asbury Park, New Jersey, his powerful, soulful voice became a fixture with Danny & The Juniors as well as with The Duprees. He was inducted into the Vocal Hall Of Fame in 2003 along with Danny & The Juniors and has appeared on The Tonight Show, Late Night with David Letterman and with Tony Orlando on his concert tours. Delighting audiences in comedy clubs and cruise ships he has also appeared at major sites like Madison Square Garden.

Opening for Johnny Petillo is comedian Rick Starr who is noted for making his audiences hysterical even before he finishes a joke!

Beethoven Meets Borge An Evening Of Musical Hijinks On The Piano Starring Jason Farnham

Saturday, December 14

Take Jerry Lee Lewis, add some Victor Borge, Beethoven on steroids, garnish with Schroeder from Peanuts, throw it all in a blender and there you have a Jason Farnham show! Hilarious, entertaining and supremely musical, Jason puts a spin on classics turning them on their ears. His rendition of the classic Für Elise adds a techno-beat and becomes, For Crying Out Elise, Let's Dance! Another of his wacky versions is Autumn Leaves which he turns into a fusion of Bossa Nova and Samba. A Jason Farnham performance is a great evening of musical hijinks!

Making a special return appearance is sixteen year old world-renowned musical prodigy, Biana Pinchuk. Biana is a composer, violinist and singer, which she does in six languages.

My Mother's Italian, My Father's Jewish & I'm Home For The Holidays!

Saturday, December 21

Steve Solomon, author and star of My Mother's Italian, My Father's Jewish & I'm In Therapy! stars in his all new, uproariously funny show which features his Granddaughter, Mom, Dad, Sister (the smoker), TSA Officers, Grandma, Grandpa, Uncle Willie, Stuttering Cousin Bob, Demented Cousin Kenny, Cousin Sal (and Sal's parole officer) and lots more! Steve brings to life all the astounding characters we know, love and tolerate in our own families. His gift for creating voices, dialects and wacky sound effects adds much hilarity to each of these characters' story. We dare you to spend the evening with Steve and not scream with laughter as he defends himself against his family.

The Motowners The Ultimate Motown Show

Saturday, December 28

Come along as The Motowners and their five-piece band celebrate sixty years of the Motown experience which changed American music. The group faithfully reproduces songs by The Temptations, The Four Tops, Diana Ross, Smokey Robinson, Martha and the Vandellas and other Motown artists with authentic costumes and great choreography. They perform some of your Motown favorites such as I Can't Help Myself (Sugar Pie, Honey Bunch), My Girl, Heat Wave and Higher and Higher. # West Palm Beach Annual Resident Show “My Musical Scrapbook” Sunday, January 26 & Monday, January 27

Have a song or piece of music that takes you to a special moment in time? Join your fellow residents as they share the favorite songs and dances that created their musical scrapbooks. Hopefully the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein, Irving Berlin, Jerry Herman, Frank Sinatra and The Beatles will bring back your special moments in time.

The Capitol Steps “The Lyin’ Kings” Tuesday, January 28

In 1981 a group of U.S. Senate staffers set out to satirize the very people who employed them. At that time, friends warned them to not quit their day jobs. But they stuck to it, and have been entertaining audiences all over the country for more than thirty-eight years. Each year brings a new show with a fresh crop of material taken directly from the headlines. They have thirty-nine albums to their name and The Washington Post proclaimed them, “An oasis of good-natured ribbing in a fiercely partisan world” while The Sentinel Newspaper called them “Enormously refreshing.”

A Star Is Born The Concert Thursday, January 30

A trio of New York City’s top vocalists joined by pianist extraordinaire John Boswell, join forces to celebrate the music from three film versions of the iconic movie, A Star Is Born. Each film starred a dazzling leading lady with a spectacular voice. Judy Garland stole her version of the movie with the song, The Man Who Got Away. Barbra Streisand performed the 1977 Academy Award-winning song, Evergreen and Lady Gaga sang this year’s Academy Award winner, Shallow.
